The Brandon Daily Mail.

MONDAY, JANUARY 8, 1923.

The publishers of the MAIL return their thanks to their patrons and well-wishers who have so far contributed their assistance to this journal. They have to thank the merchants, business men and people of Brandon generally for the liberal advertising patronage which has been so far extended. The difficulties to be encountered in the embarkation of a new daily journal at this season are not few, nor are they slight. They are gradually being overcome. That the enterprise displayed by the MAIL is fully appreciated they have no reason to doubt. The motto of the paper is "Onward and Upward" and no pains will be spared to keep the paper in the front rank. The first number of the WEEKLY MAIL will be issued on Wednesday, of this week. It will be a fifty-six column quarto, and it will contain at least thirty-six columns of reading matter especially elected.

We would inform Mr. Woodworth's friends throughout the electoral division not to relax one instant in their efforts to place that gentleman at the head of the polls on the 23rd inst. Eternal vigilance is always the price of liberty. It is not safe to be too sanguine. His opponent is active and industrious, knowing that he is playing a desperate game. We ask Mr. Woodworth's supporters, right and left, before and behind, to be at the polls on Tuesday the 23rd, no matter where the mercury is, or regardless of blizzards or snow. We trust that they will make it an especial point to be on hand and cast their votes for Mr. Woodworth. If they do so there will be no regrets afterwards, except on the side of his opponents.

"No Monopoly" is one of the mottoes of the Grit, but he changes the tune when he himself has the monopoly. The case being altered, of course, alters the case.

Our special correspondent telegraphs in this issue of the MAIL that Thomas Wardlaw Taylor, Q.C., Master of the Supreme Court of Judicature in Ontario, has been appointed to succeed Judge Miller.

It would be most interesting to know how it is that every Grit is a Provincial Rights candidate. By this he wishes to be known. We have repeatedly asked this question, but our affectionate contemporary has failed to answer it.

Mr. David Glass in his address to the electors of Minto was very like the same Mr. Glass, who on the memorable 13th of August, 1873, was the first member to take his seat in the House, on that occasion. He is the author of the fundamental principles of natural justice, and it is our intention to show up Mr. Glass as an eminent rodent, who sold his birth right for a contract.

Mr. Sidney Bolton has paid a dollar for disturbing a Methodist congregation at worship in London, Ont., but Mr. Bolton declined to pay any costs with the fine. He remarked by way of explanation that God would take care of him. He was permitted to take some spiritual advice from a policeman, and no doubt he will pay up the costs as well.

We have assurance from a very trust-worthy source that Mr. J. P. Alexander, the former local member for the Turtle Mountain is meeting with marked success in his canvass in the electoral division of Turtle Mountain. Mr. Warden Young has been, it seems, waiting for Mr. Greenway to appear on the field and give him a big push. Mr. Young is very much distressed because Mr. Greenway has not shown up, meantime Mr. Alexander is walking the course.

Our polished rival is waking up. Peace and happiness have departed from his eye. He has no longer a monopoly. There is a raven perched above his chamber door (on the stove pipe) as he has no Pals. The MAIL has been the bumble bee that has kept buzzing around his bonnet, until it has aroused the inactive penguin who has slept so much and so well in the solar atmosphere of disallowance. Our affectionate "Knight of the rueful countenance" should thank us instead of abusing us for the invaluable service rendered him.

Our bilious opponent refers to ex-Judge Miller as a henchman of Charles J. Rykert. A henchman for the information of our well-informed contemporary is a page. A henchman is a servant, therefore a servant is a page, and a page may be a chapter in history. Ex-Judge Miller is likely to become a very disagreeable chapter to certain high-faloots, whose cause our choleric contemporary is very materially injuring, though he imagines he is aiding it immeasurably.

It has not yet transpired whether Mr. T. C. Greenway has succeeded in gluing together, the break which has occurred in the ranks of the patriots, through the persistent candidature of Mr. Alphabetical Hay. That doughty warrior has refused to act under the dictation and direction of Mr. G., while Mr. David Glass still persists in ranking head of the cause of life liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. The opposite camp appears to be not only troubled with too many cooks, but also appears to be deficient in following.

The local exponent of contract breaking in particular and repudiation in general insinuates that if it liked it could resort to personality and other methods usually employed in a weak cause, and that Mr. Sifton's cause would be promoted by such a proceeding. It seems to us that the proprietor of the organ has been whirling the crank pretty lively and somewhat unceasingly, and the tunes that he has been grinding out have been anything but sweet music; they have not been the psalms of David, but rather the lamentations of Jeremiah.

THE WINNIPEG SUN recopied a half a dozen sticks of alleged editorial matter from the Toronto World. It is further alleged that the World copied the affirmed production and credited it to no less a print than our dear-old rival, but the parent Sun, no doubt knowing that the satellite which derives its light from the central body, did not as a matter of course give any credit to the little luminary, whereupon that diminutive spheroid blazed out at its big solar parent and threatens it with an eclipse. The spectacle is refreshing to us inhabitants of this terrestrial planet.

A confident Siftonite informed us on Saturday that Mr. Sifton is going to be returned by forty of a majority. This majority is to be made up of conservative who have it is alleged become disgusted at the Conservative party and annoyed at Disallowance. There is something refreshing in this contemplation. The fact that it merely exists in the mind, and has no entity, and that it never will have, does not appear to concern the ardent and sanguine Siftonite. He is happy in counting his chickens even though the maternal hen will never perform that act of incubation so necessary to the count.

Mr. F. E. Burnham, of Emerson, has not yet answered the plain and direct question put to him in reference to what he is, and how is it. Mr. Burnham's calculation of securing votes in order to make him a staunch Reformer is likely to be upset. He is much mistaken if he imagines that such a trick will succeed. No one, not even a Mr. Burnham, can serve two masters. Had he never been a party man he could consistently claim to be a non-party man, but Mr. Burnham's balancing a non-party man is a travesty upon the election of the Bluffs and Blues. To be consistent, Mr. Burnham should ask his reform friends not to give him away so badly.

I seem to us that Mr. Harrison should have an easy time in routing Mr. David Glass' whose political character is of most dazzlingly kaleidoscopic. Now passing as the author of "Fundamental Justice, again as a Q.C., anon as a Q.C., then as a railway telegraph contractor under the imbecile administration of Mr. Mackenzie, and now as the Knight Errant of ANTE VETOISM and ETERNAL LIBERTY. Provincial sovereignty. Mr. Glass has undoubtedly a record, but like that of the clever Mr. Jingle, it is such a record as ought to teach the sensible electors that Mr. Mr. Glass cares more for Mr. Glass than the subjects which he professes to espouse and champion, and that this is his Credo in Unum Deo.

The Reform how-wow which has recently been inflicted upon the people of Toronto gives at least some assurance that the Reform party is still in existence. This was undoubtedly proven at the convention, and we believe the only impression that it has made looking over the reports we do not discover that the convention has succeeded in harmonizing the various incongruous elements which make up the sum total of the Grit party. Many of the difficult issues were handled very gingerly, some were not touched at all. Mr. G. W. Ross did not insert the Prohibition plank in the platform on which Reform champions are to stand, nor did some of the flat money advocates appear as the champion of a new financial era. The convention did not divest itself of sufficient local spirit in order to carry the intended weight. This is no doubt attributable to the fact that the so-called Reform party of the Dominion is split up into a number of inharmonious elements, and that the fusion of these elements into one whole party is an impossibility so long as Gritism lasts.

This pedantic omission who poses as the oracle of Twelfth Street is endeavoring to adopt the imperative style, after the manner of the parochial Mr. Bumble. The two and twenty readers of the organ through which this aesthetic beadle shines forth are "frankly" informed that this journal has been spoiling for a fight, and he makes other equally as vulgar and untruthful assertions which are ostensibly made as an explanation to the limited clique of readers, but which are a mere excuse for unparliamentary inattention. It is an easy matter to affect a lofty air of journalistic propriety, and to assume an owl-like wisdom when the music cannot be faced. This plan is eminently hackneyed, and is antiquated. When it comes to pass that the eloquent Anglo-Saxon pen of the unassuming editor and proprietor of the backwood's Smoother and the special correspondent of the weekly Whangtown Howler is set up as the par excellence of polite literature, what may we expect from the sub-editor of the Dandelion Fire Eater, and the Special Eave Dropper of the Mudholow Inevitable. Won't those aspiring scribes think that they have claims? It is passing strange how little some people who have had advantages may really know. This may not be evident to our contemporary but it is quite apparent to its readers.

Tenders For Wood.

On behalf of the School Board of this City, I will, up to the 6th of January next, receive tenders for the repair of 12 yards of wood, and wood to be delivered at the School House. Tenders will please state particularly the quality of wood. A portion to be delivered immediately. W. BARR, 11-31 Brandon, Jan. 2, 1922. Tel. Trans School Bd.

Contradiction.

In yesterday's edition of this paper there appeared a notice to the effect that I was no longer Superintendent of Works for the Township, and that I had left here to state that I am manager of the Company of the Company's affairs until such time as the Company pay for the property, and as yet they have not paid one cent of the purchase money. My agreement is under seal and cannot be changed. W. H. SCOTT, Manager for Toronto, Manitoba and Northwest Land Company, Limited.

INTER-PROVINCIAL

Grand Forks, Minn., Feb. 1. A gentleman connected with the Manitoba road, and who is well informed in regard to railroad matters, said today that Mr. Hill had not sold his interest in the Canadian Pacific road, nor had the Manitoba been swallowed by the Northern Pacific. He said that Mr. Hill still had a controlling interest in the Manitoba and the stock was in such a shape that Villard could not get hold of it; that Hill controlled three-fifths of the stock. Another gentleman from Chicago, who is well posted, said it was a fact that Mr. Hill had cut loose from the Canadian Pacific, and that Villard had bought three-fifths of the Manitoba stock; and that the fact would come out in a few days and prove his assertions. There have no doubt been some rumors in the time great roads of the West, but just what they are has not yet been given to the public.

The Mayor of Nelson, Mr. M. K. Kay, accompanied by Mr. Loeke, of that place, had an interview with Mr. Hill, of the Manitoba road, the other day, with reference to Manitoba Southwestern matters. Mr. Hill stated that the road would be pushed forward as rapidly as possible in the spring; that it was not the intention of the company to avoid established towns, but on the contrary the management desired to tap all such wherever practicable. Mr. Hill believed the road would run to Nelson, but he was not prepared to negotiate until his engineers had first run over the line, which would be at the earliest date possible. He denied that the C. P. R. Syndicate were in any way connected with the Manitoba Southwestern.

The Council of the Municipality of Fort Rourke, have voted one hundred and twelve dollars to Mr. Mulligan, of this city, for his services as warden.

Rev. C. J. Breton, rector of St. Luke Church, Emerson, was recently presented with his West Lynne congregation with a flattering address and a purse containing $100, in acknowledgment of his services in holding special services in West Lynne.

Mr. Henry Tennant, of West Lynne, is opposed by Mr. G. Wilde and Mr. F. A. Martin, who are playing the role of Provincial Rights candidates. Mr. Tennant appears to be the popular candidate among the French and English speaking electors.

A number of gentlemen met in the Windsor Hotel yesterday to discuss the formation of a lodge of the Knights of Pythias in this city. It was decided to hold a meeting in the Foresters' Hall on Monday evening, to which Knights and those who are desirous of joining the order are invited, and should the meeting be favorable to the formation of a lodge, steps will at once be taken with that object. At present there is no jurisdiction under which such a lodge could act, so that a charter will have to be obtained direct from the Supreme Council. As soon as five lodges are in working order in Manitoba a jurisdiction may be formed for the Province.—Winnipeg Times.

TAKING CARE OF BABIES.

If you wish to have a healthy and good child you must bathe the baby twice a day. There is, perhaps, no cross and irritable man or woman who goes without a daily bath but would be better if it were regularly taken. Your infant will be so much more quiet with daily baths as to fully pay you for your time and trouble in giving them. It will grow up stronger and will be more likely to have cleanly and genteel instincts all through life. Begin with water that is moderately warm, and change gradually, very gradually, to colder water, but not too cold water. A cool bath will be more strengthening than if you keep to the warm water, providing the child is not too delicate to stand it. Do not be in too great a hurry to get the cool bath. Reaction comes only when the child is well, strong and old enough to generate animal heat. A handful of salt may be thrown into the bath. Dry the child quickly and gently, and dust the skin with starch powder that has no scent in it.

Clothing for infants should be light and warm. Through the earlier years—say for three years—a child needs plenty of warmth. Let the feet, abdomen and chest always be healthfully warm. Do not overdo this, however, with heavy garments that will keep the child in a vapor bath of perspiration. The flannel clothing, as well as other dress of the child, must be frequently changed to promote health. All the clothing must be loose enough to give free play to the vital organs.

Be clean in everything pertaining to your rooms, or you will poison the child you love, not enough to kill it, perhaps, but sufficiently to impair vitality and make it harder for the child to live. Keep the child clean or it will poison itself. All discharges from the body are poisons—those from the skin as well as others. An unpleasant smell that is perceived about many persons, and in their apartments, is known as the odoriferous, or human odor—that is, the smell of dead, foul, poisonous matter, exhaled through the skin, and never washed from the body.

Neither talk nor drinking water should be allowed to stand in open vessels, where it might become contaminated by the germs of disease or from other infected air from sinks, drains, sewers or other sources. Both milk and water readily absorb the germs of disease, and a variety of diseases—as, cholera, dysentery, typhoid fever, etc.

A Leveler.

We make its own welcome and level all distinctions. No dignity, no learning, no force of character can make any stand against it. It is like a lion, on which no beauty of form, no majesty of carriage, can plead immunity—they must walk gingerly, according to the laws of the lion, or down they must go, dignity and all.

The Terrible Pellagra.

It is about 100 years since the pellagra came to prominence in Europe, first in Sicily, afterwards in France and Italy, and later in Greece and other countries. In Italy the disease has assumed vast proportions. In the province of Bergamo, alone, in the year 1878, at least 10,000 persons, it is estimated, were afflicted with the terrible epidemic, almost 10 per cent. of the agricultural population of that province. The effect of the disease is a complete degradation of the physical and intellectual powers. The greater part of the victims either die in the lunatic asylums and hospitals or commit suicide, leaving the seeds of the malady (as sad heritage) to their children. This is a terrible picture, and Signor Alborghetti, a member of the Provincial Commission of Bergamo, from whose report, lately published, I gather the above particulars, advocates the most urgent and stringent measures on the part of the Government to arrest the ravages of the disease. As it has been indisputably proved that the pellagra made its appearance and increased with the increased cultivation of maize, that whatever the difference of soil, climate, race, social regulations, manners and customs—these places only are infected where the food of the agricultural population consists chiefly in maize, flour in the shape of polenta or bread, and that even those already affected with the malady are speedily cured if their diet be varied with meat, vegetables, etc., Signor Alborghetti advocates a radical reform in the food of the agricultural laborers. He proposes that economical kitchens, superintended by provincial commissions and regulated according to the size of the parishes and the number of persons afflicted with the disease, should be established, and that medical officers of the parish, at the first sign of the pellagra invading a hitherto untouched district, should have the power to give tickets to the agricultural laborers, enabling them to partake of the benefits of such economical kitchens. This, he says, is the best, most rapid and efficient way to put an end to the epidemic.—Naples Cor. London Daily News.

The Use of Pain.

The power which rules the universe, this great, tender power, uses pain as a signal of danger. Just, generous, beautiful nature never strikes a foul blow; never attacks us behind our backs; never digs pitfalls or lays ambushes; never wears a smile upon her face when there is vengeance in her heart. Patiently she teaches us her laws, plainly she writes her warnings, tenderly she graduates their force. Long before the fierce, red, danger light of pain is flashed she pleads with us—as though for her own sake, not ours—to be merciful to ourselves and to each other. She makes the overworked brain to wander from the subject of its labors. She turns the over-indulged body against the delights of yesterday. This is her caution signal, "Go slow." She stands in the filthy courts and alleys that we pass daily, and beckons us to enter and realize with our senses what we allow to exist in the midst of the culture of which we brag.

And what do we do ourselves? We whip and spur on the pained brain as though it were a jibing horse—force it back into the road which leads to madness, and go on full gallop. We drug the rebellious body with stimulants, we hide the original and think we have escaped the danger, and are very festive before night. We turn aside, as the Pharisee did of old, and pass on the other side with our handskerchief to our nose. At last, having broken nature's laws and disregarded her warnings, forth she comes—drums beating, colors flying—right in front! To punish us. Then we go down on our knees and whimper about it having pleased God Almighty to send this affliction upon us, and we pray Him to work a miracle in order to reverse the natural consequences of our disobedience, or save us from the trouble of doing our duty. In other words, we put our fingers in the fire and pray it will not hurt.

Things We Outgrow.

It is both the curse and the blessing of our American life that we are never quite content. We all expect to go somewhere before we die, and have a better time when we get there than we can have at home. The bane of our life is discontent. We say we will work so hard, and then we will enjoy ourselves. But we find it just as this K. K. K. has pressed it. "When I was a boy," he said, "I wanted some taffy; it was a shilling; I hadn't one. When I was a man, I had a shilling, but I didn't want any taffy."—Robert Collier.

SEVEN BELLS says he has killed twenty-seven Indians with his own hands. How the United States army must envy him!

Bishop Haven on Death.

Some Christians, perhaps foolishly, indulge in fears about death. It is really to one that dies a matter of no consequence at all whether it is slow or sudden, attended with peace or joy, or not. I have long since determined to indulge consciously no choice on the subject. But it is noticeable that some who have feared it have been wonderfully sustained when the dreaded moment came. An English philosopher could relieve the unconsoling anxiety of his later hours by a fancied dialogue between himself and the ferryman who should bear his soul across the fancied river; the old Roman could cover his face and turn to the wall and die; it is left to the Christian to remain unmoved and passive, and receive the summons which thrills the soul with the foretasted joys of Heaven.

A party of gentlemen were shooting in the neighborhood of Blackwood, near Gelligreen, when a valuable dog was bitten by a viper. The poor animal almost immediately showed symptoms of the venomous bite of the viper, in fainting, sickness and occasional vomiting. On the following day the keeper visited the same spot, and discovered the reptile basking on a heap of stones, a number of young vipers around her. When he approached her he could plainly see the mother opening her mouth, and the young vipers crawling in. When killed, eleven young ones, made their appearance, alive and active, and of the same color as a mackerel. The length of the viper was two feet six inches, and the young vipers six inches each.—London Times.

No sermon was delivered in the English church last evening, it being considered too cold to detain parties, a short prayer meeting was held, however.

There was a beautiful aurora last night. There was a perfectly distinct arc extending from east to west in the northern heavens about ten degrees above the horizon.

"In-to-morrow's issue of the Mail there will appear a full description of the mammoth establishment of Messrs. Bower, Blackburn, Mundie & Porter, wholesale merchants, Pacific Avenue.

The Mayor and Ald. Winters go to Winnipeg to-day to negotiate the raising of money on debentures. Among the first ones thereafter will be to discharge their indebtedness to the Imperial Bank.

Chief McMillan intends opening up a series of foot-races and revolver practice with his "stalwarts" as soon as the weather permits. They are bound to be adept and to let none to escape them unless they do the 100 yards under 24, or drive a nail at 50 paces.

This is the kind of healthy weather that lessens the general dimensions of the wood piles. It also freezes the water in the gutters, and fastens the pump handles in such a manner as to send away the matutinal milkman from the town pump, swearing at the thermometer and at patent pump handles.

There was a good attendance at the rink on Saturday night, and contentment once more appears to smile over the skaters, notwithstanding that round robin. It is a pretty hard temptation to hang one's skates on a hickory limb when the ice is in such fine condition. So think the skaters.

There was no row, disturbance, or unpleasantness at the Grand Central Hotel as was erroneously stated in our local columns. We take the first opportunity of correcting such an egregious mistake, in justice to that excellent hotelier and his courteous and gentlemanly proprietor and its manager, Mr. Brundage.

In the morning the young man from Ontario wakes up and sees 23 inches of beautiful frost—looks like snow on the window panes. This is an intimation to the young men from Ontario that there are no mosquitoes around, and that the buzzing blue bottle is taking a quiet nap, but is ready to wake up for it as soon as the frogging, which will be next May.

These are the nights when young men gather around the fire and shows what excellent stove watches they can make! It is, however, a great mistake to hug a stove too close. In the first place it prevents the heat from getting a free circulation and keeps the territory beyond two feet from the stove in a state of arctic coldness. In the next place there is no sense at all in hugging a cast iron stove. It is against general principles.

The meeting at Milford on last Thursday evening was in all respects a marked success for Mr. Woodworth. That gentleman addressed the electors in a plain, straightforward and convincing manner, exposing the hollowness and insincerity of the anti-debenture howlers, and their unceasing efforts to make capital out of the whole question. He came out as a square local Conservative in Dominion politics, and in the matter of improved terms to this Province, Mr. Woodworth very conclusively proved that it was more to their interests to return a candidate who were on amiable terms with the friends of the present Central Government, and in accord with the principles of the Conservative party than by sending to the Local Legislature an avowed and uncompromising ultraist, opposed to the general policy of the country, and in favor of the repudiation of the C.P.R. contract. Mr. Sifton and Mr. Peterson, who addressed the electors on behalf of Mr. J. W. Sifton, endeavored to lessen the effect of Mr. Woodworth's appeal, but judging from the three rousing cheers given for Mr. Woodworth at the close of the meeting their exhortations were vain and impotent.

Some of the distinguished cavaliers from Winnipeg and the Portage who attended the Club ball on last Friday night were struck with the agreeable fact that Brandon Beauties are in the matter of attractions in no way behind the ladies of the eastern villages. Brandon is only a year and a half old. Think of it! Of course the ladies are much older than that, but they are Brandon first, last and always.

The MAIL recommends the immediate formation of a Board of Trade for the City of Brandon. Such a body if formed under the Dominion Act will have the privilege of the Dominion Board of Trade, and their service as an auxiliary to our City Council will be of great assistance, to say nothing of the important work they can do in other respects. We would like to see our merchants and business men take up this matter without delay, and form a Board.

CAMPAIGN NOTES.

For the information of our skeptical local contemporary, as well as for that of our readers, we report that the meeting at Milford on Thursday night was a complete success for Mr. Woodworth. The meeting was held in the town hall pursuant to announcement and between forty and fifty electors were present. Mr. Woodworth spoke for upwards of half an hour, defining his position in a plain and certain manner. He expressed the same sentiments as appears in his address, showed that his interests were in this electoral division, and that in no way could it be shown that he was not prepared to do as much justice to the province as his opponent. He deplored the hue and cry that had been raised throughout the length and breadth of the province by those who were seeking to mislead the electors by howling against Disallowance. He compared them with men groping in the dark and laboring under a hallucination brought on from over ambition and excess of party spirit.

Mr. Woodworth was followed by Mr. Clifford Sifton, who in the absence of Mr. J. W. Sifton, recited the usual lesson on disallowance and monopoly. Always this gentleman

From Dan to Beersheba ranges, Puffs and blows and rings the changes, but it was all to no effect. It was no go with the electors of Milford.

Mr. Daly who spoke for some time and was listened to with marked attention, and frequently applauded, took up the various phases of the question of disallowance, and pointed out the false issues that had been raised by Mr. Woodworth's opponent, and the injury the opposite party were inflicting on the province, and the credit of the country by their mischievous policy of stirring up discontent.

Mr. Daly is a fluent, incisive and pleasing speaker, and he received a good hearing.

Mr. Peterson repeated his Carberry speech with a slight variation from that unique effort. If he made any impression it was very slight and unappreciable.

There was no packed meeting by young Englishmen as our zealous contemporary asserted in its columns. At the close three cheers were given for Mr. Woodworth and none for Mr. Sifton. This is substantially a correct report of the meeting, and when the disgruntled organ the other evening said that the MAIL's paragraph received at a late hour on Friday morning stating that the meeting was a success, was an attempt to cram (this was the word our polite contemporary used) our readers, it was asserting what it did not know, and therefore guilty of a clear case of falsification for which it owes the MAIL and its 500 readers a very polite apology from the polished superlative scribe who presides at its editorial table, but which we will waver our reportorial existence he has not the politeness to do in a sincere manner.
